Burger Combos

Jack in the Box burger combos come in many bold flavors, from the buttery Smashed Jack and classic Sourdough Jack to the filling Ultimate Cheeseburger. Each combo usually includes a burger, a drink, and a side, with a choice of regular fries or seasoned curly fries. One of the best things about these combos is that they are available 24/7, so you can enjoy a full burger meal anytime—morning, afternoon, or late at night. For bigger appetites, Munchie Meals add extra sides like tacos and curly fries. With plenty of customization and new items added often, Jack in the Box combos stay popular with fans who want bold and different fast-food options.

Late Night

Jack in the Box Late Night menu is best known for its popular Munchie Meals, made for late-night cravings between 9 p.m. and 5 a.m. These filling meal boxes include big items like the Ultimate Cheeseburger or Spicy Chicken, along with halfsies fries (half curly, half regular), two tacos, and a drink. After 9 p.m., the restaurant switches to a late-night vibe with purple menu lights and upbeat music, perfect for night owls and shift workers. New menu updates now include a Build Your Own Munchie Meal, letting customers mix and match their favorite items. Limited-time offers, such as the Gremlins Midnight Meal, add fun and bold choices to the late-night menu.

Tacos

Jack in the Box tacos are a famous fast-food favorite, known for their crunchy yet chewy texture and low price. Each taco has a crispy corn tortilla filled with seasoned meat, American cheese, shredded lettuce, and tangy taco sauce. What makes them different is that they are deep-fried with the filling inside, giving them a rich, "greasy-good" taste that fans love. Usually sold in pairs, these tacos are popular for late-night snacks and budget-friendly meals. Their simple recipe and nostalgic feel make them one of the most ordered items on the Jack in the Box menu.

Fries & Sides

Jack in the Box has one of the most varied fries and sides menus in fast food, led by their famous seasoned curly fries. If you want both styles, you can order Halfsie Fries, which include curly fries and regular fries in one box. The menu also goes beyond fries with tasty sides like Jumbo Egg Rolls, stuffed jalapeños, and crispy mozzarella sticks. For something extra bold, Sauced & Loaded Wedges come topped with bacon, shredded cheddar, and spicy ranch. From onion rings to mini tacos, these sides are perfect for classic snacks or late-night cravings.

All Day Breakfast

Jack in the Box is known for serving its full breakfast menu 24/7, making it one of the first fast-food chains to do so. The menu includes favorites like the Breakfast Jack, buttery croissants, and Meat Lovers Breakfast Burritos. Unlike many places, they use freshly cracked eggs and offer different bread options such as toasted sourdough, warm biscuits, and pita pockets. If you like sweet breakfast items, you can order Mini Pancakes or French Toast Sticks, either as snacks or full meals. This all-day breakfast approach lets you enjoy breakfast at midnight or grab a burger in the morning. It's perfect for early risers, night owls, and late-night munchie cravings alike.

Lighter Options

Jack in the Box offers a Lighter Options menu for customers who want lower-calorie meals instead of heavy burgers. Popular choices include the Garden Salad and Southwest Salad, both made with grilled chicken and usually ranging from 220 to 340 calories without dressing. A top lighter choice is the Chicken Fajita Pita, served in a whole-grain pita and kept under 350 calories. For breakfast, the Breakfast Jack is often the lightest option, with ham and egg on a bun at about 290 calories. By choosing grilled items and swapping fries for a side salad, customers can enjoy Jack in the Box while sticking to a more health-conscious diet.

Kids

The Jack in the Box Kids' Menu includes small, kid-friendly favorites like hamburgers, cheeseburgers, chicken nuggets, and grilled cheese sandwiches. It also stands out by offering breakfast items, such as mini pancakes, so kids have choices any time of day. Each kids' meal usually comes with a side like small fries or apple bites and a drink such as milk or juice. Although Jack in the Box stopped using plastic toys in 2011 to focus more on food and nutrition, the kids' menu still offers great value for families. With customizable sides and smaller portions, it's an easy and balanced way for kids to enjoy Jack in the Box favorites.
